Presidential Preference Primary Information Correction

BOULDER CITY – Nevada state law was recently changed to require the Clark County Election Department to conduct the Presidential Preference Primary for each major political party on the first Tuesday in February of a presidential election year. See NRS 298.600-720. The City featured information regarding the Presidential Preference Primary in the January Utility Mailer sent to all customers in Boulder City. Since that time, it has come to our attention that the Nevada Republican Party has chosen to run a traditional caucus process on February 8, 2024. The Nevada Democratic Party has chosen to utilize the Presidential Preference Primary.

The City and the Clark County Election Department do not have a role in political parties' policies, rules, or decisions. We recommend reaching out to the political parties directly with any questions about caucuses or the role of this presidential primary election in their presidential candidate nominating process. The phone numbers for the Nevada Republican Party are (702) 820-4700 and (702) 586-2000, and their website is www.nevadagop.org. The phone number for the Nevada Democratic Party is (702) 737-8683, and their website is www.nvdems.com.

More information about the 2024 Presidential Preference Primary (PPP) Early Voting/Election Day Information in Boulder City can be found at the Clark County Election Department's website available at <https://www.clarkcountynv.gov>, and individual political parties.
