

What's Happening around the City of Boulder City

Public Works Welcomes Greg Lindsey!

Welcome to Greg Lindsey, Boulder City’s new Public Works Project Manager! Greg is originally from Los Angeles, and attended Northern Arizona University. He came to BC from the Phoenix area, where he worked for Wilson Engineers for six years, and PCL Construction for five years. “I’m really looking forward to developing relationships with the community, ” Greg said. “I want to help with building and rehabilitating the infrastructure of Boulder City. There are great options and possibilities here.” Greg moved here with his wife, Kim, and their two children: Aidrien, who is almost 2 year old, and Isabela, eight month old. When he’s not with the family or working, his favorite hobby is coaching. Greg served as Offensive Coordinator for the Basha (AZ) High School Bears Football team and as the school’s Track and Field Coach. He has coached many students who accepted offers from NCAA Division 1 schools during his eight years in coaching! Welcome, Greg!!

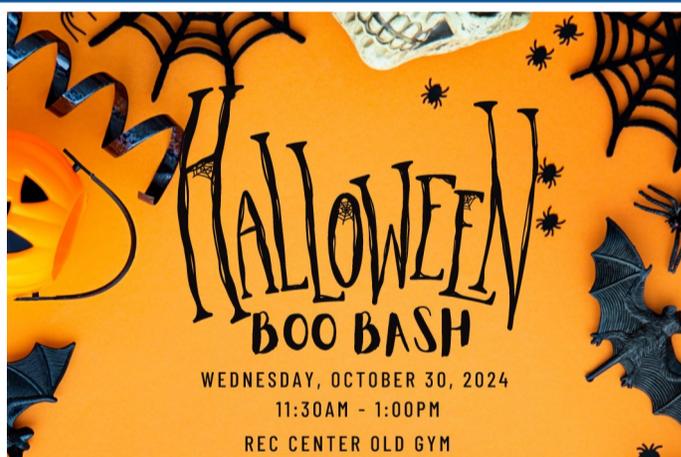

Thank you, First Responders!

October 28 is National First Responders Day! Firefighters, law enforcement officers, dispatchers, paramedics, public works & utility workers and public health professionals are some of the heroes we celebrate today. Thank you for all you do during emergency incidents, including our five firefighters who responded to help those impacted by Hurricanes Helene and Milton!
