

CHRISTMAS TREE RECYCLING

DECEMBER 28–JANUARY 11

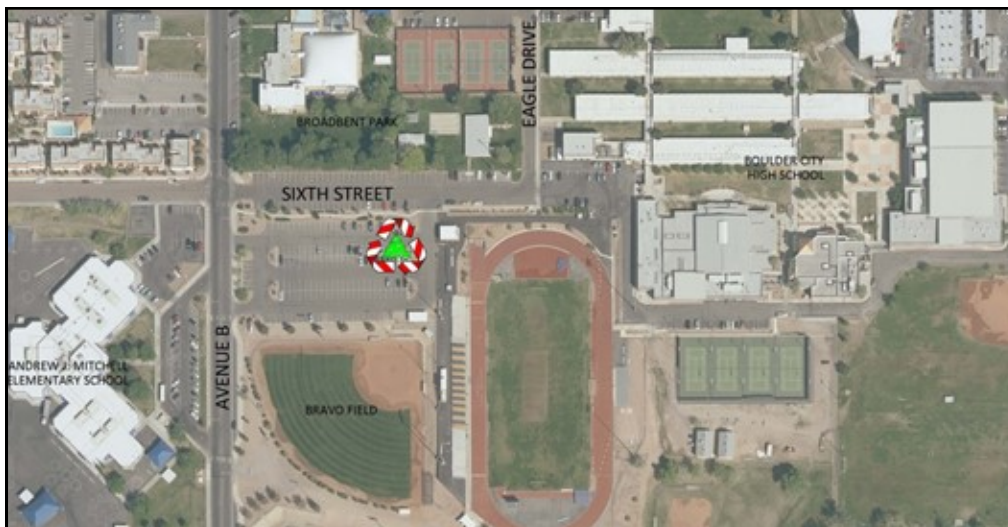

Nothing says the holidays quite like a Christmas Tree decorated with tinsel and lights. But when the holidays are over, what happens to your tree? While many end up in landfills, your tree isn't trash but a natural resource just waiting to be recycled and reused!

This is why the Boulder City Public Works Department is proud to offer Christmas Tree Recycling this year to all Boulder City residents for FREE. Working in partnership with BC Waste Free and the City of Henderson, the City will recycle your tree and turn it into rich organic mulch, which can then be used as part of your next landscaping project.

So before you put your tree out by the curb, think green and recycle!

Trees can be dropped off 24 hours a day in the recycling container located at Bravo Field near the corner of Eagle Drive and Sixth Street.
